Hold the Front Page

Read all about it! Create your company’s own front page news with this fun packed activity.

Using their flair and creativity, this activity will have your teams reporting like true professionals. A fantastic tool to incorporate business messages, this event can also be used to share knowledge, express feelings or simply have some light-hearted fun.

How it Works

Teams create the front page of a newspaper with witty headlines and copy to match. Polaroid cameras, props, and materials are provided to ensure fun is had for all. Each Front Page must include the chosen headline, a sports article and an advert for the product of your choice. As a finale, a team member from each newspaper editing team will report back to the rest of the group resulting in hilarious consequences.
